UNLESS THIS IS STOPPED THE GERMAN BATTLE LINE MUST AGAIN FALL BACK. THE RUSSIANS HAVE TAKEN STRYKOW AND LOWICZ, AND NOW HOLD A CLEAR LINE TO THE VISTULA RIVER AND ARE ADVANCING STEADILY.

PARIS, DEC. 4.—A NEWS DISPATCH FROM POLAND SAYS THE FIGHTING THERE IS THE BLOODIEST IN THE HISTORY OF THE WORLD. ATTACKS AND COUNTER ATTACKS ARE LEAVING THE TRENCHES PILED HIGH WITH DEAD.

WHEN UPON THE VERY BRINK OF DISASTER, THE GERMANS, WITH ALMOST UNTHINKABLE LOSSES, ESCAPED FROM THE BEAR-HUG OF THE SIBERIAN TROOPS AROUND LODZ, AND ARE NOW FURIOUSLY FIGHTING THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE. IN TERRIFIC HAND-TO-HAND FIGHTING MANY SOLDIERS WERE IMPALED ON BAYONETS AND OTHERS HAD THEIR SKULLS CRUSHED WITH THE BUTTS OF RIFLES.

RUSSIANS RETREATING BEFORE AUSTRIANS.

VIENNA, Dec. 4.—The Russian forces which have been invading the Zemplin district through Galicia are now in retreat, claims an official statement.

$20,000,000 DAMAGE AT RHEIMS; CLAIMED JAPS FIGHTING WITH RUSSIANS

BERLIN, DEC. 4.—THE KAISER IS VISITING THE GERMAN TROOPS IN THE CZESTOCHOWA DISTRICT AND HAS COMPLIMENTED THEM FOR THEIR FINE ACHIEVEMENTS.

A NEW BATTLE IS DEVELOPING IN THE REGIONS OF ALSACE AND THE VOSGES, WHERE THE FRENCH ARE ASSUMING THE OFFENSIVE. THE GERMANS HAVE BEEN STRONGLY RE-ENFORCED FROM THE RHINE VALLEY. TERRIFIC HAVOC HAS BEEN WROUGHT BY THE GERMAN ARTILLERY AT RHEIMS, THE DAMAGE BEING ESTIMATED AT $20,000,000. THE GERMANS ARE MAKING STEADY PROGRESS IN THE AISNE DISTRICT.

THE REPORT THAT JAPANESE SOLDIERS ARE FIGHTING WITH THE RUSSIANS ON THE EASTERN FRONTIER SEEMS TO BE CONFIRMED. MORE ARE COMING VIA THE TRANS-SIBERIAN RAILWAY. EXPERT JAPANESE ARE SAID TO BE MANNING SOME OF THE BIG RUSSIAN GUNS.

FLOOD PREVENTS TURKISH ATTACK.

HARDSHIPS DRIVE SOLDIERS TO SUICIDE.

ROTTERDAM, Dec. 4.—It is reported that many German soldiers in West Flanders, particularly around Ghent, are suiciding, having been driven to insanity by the terrible hardships. Another report says the Germans are now cremating their dead instead of burying them, this being a sanitary measure.

SHOLTZ TO PAY EXPENSE OF ANY CITY LITIGATION

DOES NOT WISH CITY TO BE EMBARRASSED OR SUFFER ANY FINANCIAL LOSSES ON ACCOUNT OF FRANCHISE.

Michael Sholtz has addressed a communication to Mayor Titus offering to pay the expenses of all litigation that may arise because of the granting of a franchise to him to operate an electric lighting system or because of the resolution of the city council to grant him the contract for lighting the Esplanade Burgoyne. Early in the week the Daytona Public Service company served notices on the city officials, which the officials construe as an ultimatum that will probably be followed by litigation.

The communication from Mr. Sholtz to the city is as follows:

"Being advised that there will be no meeting of the city council until the 14th, I take this means of informing you that I will assume the financial responsibility of the threatened litigation between the Daytona Public Service company and the city of Daytona. While this threatened litigation is not covered by the franchise that you have granted me, yet I feel it is indirectly the result of the same, and I have therefore requested the city attorney to contest this proposed litigation at my expense, and have requested my attorneys, Landis, Fish & Hull to act with him on behalf of the city of Daytona in this matter. I do not wish the city of Daytona to be embarrassed in any way, nor to suffer any financial losses by reason of any matters arising out of the franchise recently granted."

VERDICT IS REACHED IN THE BOGGS CASE

"DEATH FROM UNKNOWN CAUSES"—MANY WITNESSES EXAMINED—FEW BELIEVE DEATHS WERE ACCIDENTAL.

MIAMI, Dec. 3.—The coroner's jury which was engaged several days on an investigation of the deaths of A. A. Boggs and his daughter, Miss Marjorie, who were found dead in the burning home of Mr. Boggs, the following verdict was brought in: "Death from unknown causes." The verdict was signed by F. C. Rush, foreman. Nearly a hundred witnesses were examined in an effort to throw light on the double tragedy. It is said that it took a large number of ballots before the verdict could be rendered. A few people cling to the theory that their deaths were purely accidental, while the general public is of the opinion that it was cold-blooded murder. The officers and detectives are still working on the case and it is stated that they feel confident that they will unearth clues that will be of value in clearing up the mystery.

Miss H. Sanderson of Potsdam, N. Y., is located at the Daytona apartments on South Palmetto.

WILL COME TO DAYTONA ABOUT JANUARY FIRST

Mrs. R. G. Johnson writes from Mankato, Minn., November 28th:
"Will you please hold our paper as we are about to start for our winter south. Will go by way of Fort Myers and from there to Daytona about January 1st. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson have spent a number of winters here and their return will be welcomed by many friends.

As to Age of Gunpowder
Comparison of the terms used by Sir Francis Bacon to describe the effects of explosive powder in three different places shows that he was writing of the same powder. Now his letter on the "Secret Works of Nature" would appear to have been written to William of Auvergne, archbishop of Paris who died in 1248 or 1249. It seems then, that the explosive properties of black powder were known in France and England before the middle of the thirteenth century.

D. H. S. DEFEATS NEW TOWN TEAM

BASKET BALL GAME PLAYED ON THE HIGH SCHOOL COURT WAS WON BY HIGH SCHOOL BOYS.

The D. H. S. basket ball team played the newly organized town team on the high school court, Thursday evening, and defeated them 35 to 5. Ten members of the squad were sent into the game for the local institution, the second team making a grand showing in the first half, when they amassed 24 points to the town team's 5. In the last ten-minute half the first team held the opposition scoreless and brought the final D. H. S. score up to 35. The town team is a strong organization, and will show up well after a few days of practice. Last night was the first time several of the members had worked together and hence the showing they made should be considered very creditable.

The Daytona High team plays at Deland Saturday evening, where they meet the strong Stetson academy team. Several autos will carry the team and its rooters to the game.

CALLER NORTH TO GIVE TESTIMONY IN MURDER TRIAL

H. K. Rogers left Thursday for New York and New Jersey, being called north to produce at a murder trial photographs taken by him of the victim and surroundings, including finger prints. The murder was committed the past summer in the summer cottage of Arthur Brisbane of the New York Journal, during the absence of the owner, and Mr. Rogers was called upon by the prosecuting attorney to make the photographs in question. He expects to be detained at Toms River, N. J., where the trial is to be held, for a week or ten days and possibly longer.

Algeria's River of Ink.

In Algeria there is a river of ink. In the upper part of its course it flows through beds of decaying moss, in the lower part through strata of iron ore, and thus through the combination of the two, its waters acquire very nearly the color and consistency of the taste of black ink.

FIRE LOSS SETTLED BEFORE BREAKFAST

C. G. BURGOWNE'S REFRIGERATING-HEATING APPARATUS BURNED EARLY FRIDAY MORNING—LOSS $89.

When Bingham & Thompson came down Friday morning to open their insurance office they found this note on their front door:

"December 4, 1914.
Messrs. Bingham & Thompson:
"This is to notify you, each and every: You owe me money. The work has turned. Not only have you destroyed my personal property, but you have inflicted physical injury on my left forefinger, and I want remuneration—much remuneration. Pay I want it quickly. The fire occurred at 5:25 this a. m. Why this delay in settling?
"To come down to brass tacks—come down and view the ruins."
"C. G. BURGOWNE."

The cause of the foregoing was an early morning fire which destroyed a refrigerator the commodore has been using as an electric dryer for piano-player records. The claim was filed just a few minutes after the fire occurred, and Bingham & Thompson settled the loss in full before breakfast, the amount being a little under $90.

Incidentally, Commodore Burgowne has, during his lifetime, paid out about $150,000 in fire insurance premiums. He has had one other fire and collected seven dollars for a burned rug.

OPENING MEETING OF PALMETTO CLUB

SESSION DEVOTED TO THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS AND REPORTS OF DELEGATES TO STATE AND NATIONAL CONVENTIONS.

The Palmetto club held the opening meeting of the club year at their club house on Orange avenue, Thursday afternoon, December 3rd, with a good attendance. According to custom, the first meeting was given to the president's address and the reports of delegates to the state and general conventions of federal clubs.

The officers of the club acted as hostesses of the day, and extended cordial greetings as the members entered the prettily decorated room.

The Palmetto club orchestra opened the afternoon's program by playing the "Phonomenon March" by Odell and responded to an encore with "As the Years Roll By," by Zamecnik, both numbers being well rendered and thoroughly enjoyed.

Mrs. M. L. Stanley, president of the club, then made a brief, but very interesting and inspiring address, which was filled with the spirit of hopeful desire for a pleasant and profitable year's work. Following this she gave a report of the convention of the Florida Federation of Women's clubs, held at Lakeland in November, telling appreciatively of the hostess club and the excellency of the program arranged.

The orchestra played, very pleasingly a double number, "Apple Blossoms," by Roberts, and "Affaire D'Amour-Gavotte," by Puerner.

Mrs. Freeman, the second delegate, gave a more detailed account of the Lakeland convention, speaking of the excellent work done by the revision committee; the girls' tomato and canning clubs and the boys' corn and potato clubs, both under the direction of the federation, made a remarkable showing; the work of preservation of migratory birds, chiefly by influencing public opinion, and many other lines of work now being accomplished.

Mrs. Sears gave the first report of the biennial at Chicago, telling of the excellent plans by which over 10,000 women were entertained and of the good management for their comfort, health and convenience, while in attendance. Mrs. Chamberlin gave a most interesting resume of the meetings of the general federation and scope of the work accomplished. It was a report replete with interest to every woman and was listened to with intense appreciation. It was a true picture of the greatest convention of women's clubs ever held and the Palmetto club was fortunate to have such an observing delegate.

A brief report from the building committee explained the reason for postponing the remodeling of the club house. A business meeting followed the regular program.

CONVICTED AT ST. AUGUSTINE THURSDAY.

The December 3rd edition of the St. Augustine Record carried the following story in connection with the two young white men who were arrested here recently by Daytona officers for stealing a pair of bicycles at St. Augustine.

"Bicycle thieves will not be a popular pastime with two young men."

"J. L. Barnes and J. W. Wilson, the two who rented bicycles from Will Hani Thomas and then skipped out to Daytona with them and sold them, were sentenced by County Judge Jackson to pay fines of $100 and costs each or to serve six months on the roads. They left yesterday for the road gang on Gopher Ridge."

"The young men were at road appearance and they flatly refused to give their home town. They will probably find highway building pretty hard work."

R. T. McFadden was in the city from Wednesday until Thursday when he left on his return to Savannah, Ga. Mr. McFadden came to Daytona by way of Deland and was a guest at the Gables hotel while here, attending to some business matters. He expects to come to Daytona again later in the season.

LIFE OF SPY IS BRIEF AND FULL OF EXCITEMENT

Notebook of Official in France
Discloses Stories of Many Daring Feats.

SHORT SHRIFT WHEN CAUGHT

Take Most Desperate Chances and Usually Die With Back to Wall—
If Taken in Zone of Battle They Are Tried on the Spot.

London.—These notes were written by a man engaged by the allies in an official capacity, whose duties continually called him from Paris to the firing lines of the Belgian, English and French, and who thus has unusual opportunities of talking with the soldiers and frequently seeing the battle. The general and his staff have established their headquarters in a village a few hundred yards from the Belgian frontier. From the north comes the roar of heavy German artillery brought up during the night, from the west the duller sound of the big guns of British warships maneuvering four miles from the coast and doing good work. I have slept two hours in a deserted farmhouse in company with three wounded British soldiers and a whining dog, evidently left behind by his master in his flight. A shuffling of feet in the roadway and shouted orders awoken me. A squad of French soldiers led by a lieutenant is gathered at the door, around two civilians, hands tied behind their backs. Spies! Caught on top of a haystack within a hundred feet of the general's headquarters. They had been in the neighborhood for a week, it seems, getting food no one knows where. They refused to speak. They had field glasses and note books, with the numbers of French and British regiments. The names of generals and numbers of batteries were found buried in the hay. On both men, sewn in the linings of their caps, were passes through the enemy's lines signed by one of General von Kluck's aide-de-camps.

Their case is settled in advance. Interrogated, they neither make denials nor confessions. Simply refuse to speak. Caught at eight o'clock, they are tried at 8:30, a broken table serving as judge's bench for a colonel and three captains called hurriedly from staff headquarters.

Six Shots End Their Lives. A few questions to which no answers are forthcoming, a glance at the notebooks and passes found on the prisoners and it is over. Back of the farmhouse are a poultry yard and decrepit stable. Against the stable wall, eyes bandaged, hands tied, kneeling, the two Germans are placed, the six soldiers ten paces away. The lieutenant's sword is raised, six shots mingle into one. The law of war is carried out. It is nine o'clock.

Such incidents form a part of every day conversations in the camps and trenches on the firing line. If a spy is caught within the zone of battle he is tried on the spot, the trial consisting of an examination of the papers and documents found on the suspect, the hearing of witnesses and of the prisoner's defense. If no papers or documents are found and the witnesses are not sufficiently affirmative the suspect is released or sent to Paris for further examination, according to the views of the commanding officer.

If a suspected spy is caught outside the battle zone, say in Paris, a lawyer is designated to defend him, and in nine cases out of ten the spy is found guilty, and, unless he is French, in which case he is a traitor and dies, is only sentenced to hard labor or imprisoned in a fortress.

Serves for Country.

A French counter-spying system with headquarters in Paris has done good work in sending to a quieter and, we hope, better world, several hundred too well informed Germans. Unlike that of Germany's, the French organization is recruited among volunteers, all civilians. None are paid in any way and no other incentive but to serve France is offered them. In this way the government has secured from all walks of life a good number of men, and even women, fond of excitement, who are after neither gain nor honor, but who would not stoop to such work in time of peace.

Up to date a dozen or so of these unarmed soldiers have disappeared, some prisoners, most have ended their lives, eyes bandaged, against a farmhouse wall, 12 German bullets in their bodies. When they started out it was with the understanding that the French government could not recognize them in case of trouble. Those that have died took a chance and lost. The "flyer" is worth while, for a week at counter-spying will often furnish more excitement than a month in the trenches.

The stories of spy chasing are now innumerable in French and British army circles. Here are a few of the most daring attempts made by the Germans since the beginning of the war: S— is a large town, 55 miles northeast of Paris. The houses are low, the church steeple alone being visible at any distance. The German artillery bombarded S— for three days, the church and its steeple alone, much to the surprise of the inhabitants, remaining untouched.

The third night of the bombardment a French sentry saw a light from one of the small windows high up in the steeple. The guard was called, and three men sent into the tower, which had seemed to bear a charmed life. There a man was found. For three days his lantern had served the Germans, who trained their guns a few points to the right and left of the light, certain their shells would strike the town. The spy was janitor of the courthouse; had been for four years, and confessed he was a German, having been sent to S— to report regularly to the military authorities in Berlin.

Spy Poses as Priest.

Two sentries guard a railway bridge near A—. It is ten o'clock at night. The village is a mile away. All day trains loaded with British and French troops have passed over the bridge. A priest approaches the sentries, going to the next village, he says, to give the communion to a dying farmer. Disregarding orders the sentries, good Catholics, allow the priest to pass. He disappears on the other side of the bridge. Suddenly one of the sentries sees a flicker of light along the ground 50 yards away. A rush to the spot and the good priest is discovered stooping at the base of one of the bridge arches. The stick of dynamite on the ground and blackened fuse in his hand leave no doubt as to his intentions. The sentries did not wait for a court-martial, but executed the "priest" on the spot. Papers found on him proved him to be a captain in a Hessian Hussars regiment.

In a trench near the Belgian border, a few days ago. A jovial old chap, a farmer, comes along with a basketful of pears. The shooting has stopped for an hour or so, both sides needing a rest after 12 hours of uninterrupted fighting. A number of farmers in the region having refused to abandon their homes, no one questions the farmer's presence among the troops, and his basket is soon emptied. As they are given away the farmer is thanked all around and is just leaving when he is grabbed by the throat suddenly by one of the troopers, who half chokes his victim before shouting, "He's a German. He was my boss in Paris." And so it was. For 12 years Joseph Habig had been chief accountant in a big Parisian wall paper factory. He was German, every one knew it, but he was a good accountant. Under him worked half a dozen young Frenchmen. Two days before the declaration of war his consul had warned him to leave Paris—and he had. His knowledge of French had been used by his officers when he joined the German army, and he returned. This time he stayed.

The last is the best. In Paris last month, at the war department offices, officers hurry in and out, orderlies pass like the wind, generals and their staffs discuss the campaign in the hallways, a young artillery officer, lieutenant of the general staff, according to the insignia on his collar, walks up and down idly smoking. A captain passes by, asks for a light for his cigar, and remarks, "Nice weather, lieutenant." No answer. The captain, surprised, repeats his remark. The lieutenant turns away. Angered the superior officer goes after him. The other runs toward a door.

It's all over in a jiffy. Friend Lieutenant brought into a private office, answers questions with an over-the-Rhine accent, which is a trade mark. He is a lieutenant all right, but in the Eleventh Bavarian regiment. He has made the French war office his headquarters for over a week. Some of the Paris papers got hold of the story, which was, of course, cut out by the censor.

Le Herault boasts of being the only paper which is in connection with the whole world—by telepathy. Embroidered Household Linens Always Welcome Presents.

W HAT ever knew a housewife who was not greedy to add more and more and still more to her linen chest? Embroidery appears to be the favorite garniture, as it wears just as well as the material upon which it is worked. Hemstitching, while pretty, has fallen of late somewhat into disuse by astute housekeepers, who find that their sheets and pillowcases, towels, etc., that were

EMBROIDERED PILLOWSLIPS. hemstitched after repeated tubbings in a most maddening fashion lose their charm. In the case of the embroidered articles experience has taught that the embroidery oftentimes outlasted the other parts. Illustrated here is a pattern for a pillowslip which would be equally handsome for sheets and pillowcases and towels. A pretty monogram is an ideal decoration for linens and, by the way, is considered very swifter for a woman's lingerie as well. If you wish to give a friend great pleasure upon Christmas day present her with a piece of hand embroidered linen. The centerpieces and dolly pictured here are rather elaborate, but would make an exquisite Christmas present—say, the centerpiece and a half dozen dollies. They are made of linen, the edges decorated with the fashionable cutwork, which is a very handsome finish. Any fancy workshop will supply patterns and directions for making this pretty garniture.

CENTERPIECE AND DOLLY

This is Middle Age.

To read a face as you pass it; to predict the outcome of a life; to rest confidently in the moral order of things because you cannot disbelieve what you have seen—the period when these perceptions begin to arrive is perhaps the most stimulating and exciting of our whole lives. For to most of us it is undoubtedly a surprise that the things we have always believed are really true! We rub our eyes and look about us.—Cornelia A. P. Comer, in the Atlantic.

Waiting on Transportation.

Future of Honduras' large deposits of magnetic iron ore will be determined only when the transportation problem is solved.

XMAS PROGRAM

ABIGAIL BARTHOLOMEW CHAP. TER, D. A. R. MEETS AT WINTER HOME OF CAPT. C. A. YOUNG AT DAYTONA BEACH.

The December meeting of the Abigail Bartholomew chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, was held Wednesday afternoon at the winter home of Capt. C. A. Young.

The members responded to the roll call by giving the nicknames of their respective states.

The host welcomed the chapter in a few cordial words.

A Christmas program was the order. Mrs. Ronald read a selection idealizing in an original way, the candles of the Christmas tree.

Miss Dorothy Martyn presented an interesting paper on the observance of Christmas in various parts of the world.

Mrs. Charles Gardiner reported ancient days and ways of revolutionary times. These selections were interspersed with national airs.

Then followed the social hour, when delicious refreshments were served and the kind host treated his guests to fine music by famous artists.

Those present felt and expressed their sincere appreciation of the captain's courtesy.

INSURANCE COMPANIES MUST PAY TWO PER CENT. TAX

TALLAHASSEE, Dec. 4.—The supreme court filed opinions Tuesday in the several cases brought for the state by the attorney general against several insurance companies doing business in the state, affirming the judgment of the lower court.

These suits were brought to enforce collection of the 2 per cent. gross receipts tax imposed upon insurance companies doing business in Florida.

The result of these decisions will be that the state will collect the amount of tax now due by these companies, amounting to approximately $20,000, and 2 per cent. on the gross receipts from policy holders in the state each year hereafter.

These cases, with the case against the Pullman company, recently decided by the supreme court of the United States, finally establish the principle that a tax of this character may be collected from corporations of this kind.
